

Also in This Issue:

- Once-obscure Chinese cities offer new markets
- Spain's market for fish, Greece's thirst for wines, Mexico's markets for planting seeds and candy
- Trade show opportunities in several markets

And Next Time, Turn to AgExporter for:

- NAFTA at 10: an in-depth look at the trade agreement's record serving the three country partners and numerous commodity sectors

United States Department of Agriculture
Washington, DC 20250-1000

Agricultural Outlook Forum 2004

February 19-20, 2004

Crystal Gateway Marriott Hotel
1700 Jefferson Davis Highway
Arlington, Virginia

Mark your calendar and plan to join us.

Hear the Latest on U.S. Agriculture

Attend the 2004 Forum for the latest on farm and commodity prospects and the difficult issues facing American farmers. Leading analysts will debate 2004 agricultural prospects and noted experts will discuss issues influencing today's agriculture from biosecurity and food safety to renewable energy and dietary concerns. More than 1,300 attendees from all facets of U.S. and world agriculture and the food and fiber industry make the Forum a great networking opportunity.

Program details are available. To be notified, send your name and e-mail address to agforum@oce.usda.gov.

Visit www.usda.gov/oce to register.